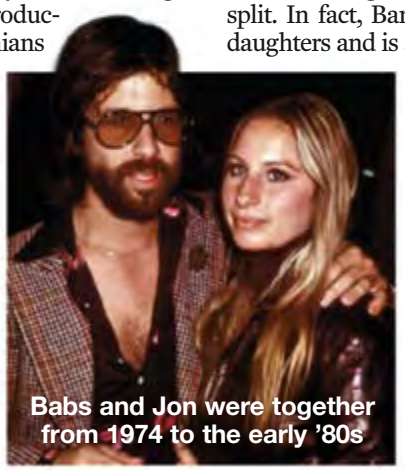
This JUST IN!

BARBRA STREISAND is on the warpath after she found out that her ex-lover Jon Peters is planning to dish intimate secrets about their life together in a sizzling new reality show, says an insider.

Jon, 68, and his daughters Skye, 21, and Caleigh, 23, are working with the producers who rocketed the Kardashians to fame and hope to have a huge hit with their own show, "The Peters Sisters."

While the program will focus mainly on the girls, Streisand, who jealously guards her privacy, has apparently been told she's the major selling point.



Babs and Jon were together from 1974 to the early '80s

"BARBRA IS FURIOUS THAT Jon is trying to sell a tacky reality show by reminding everyone that he lived with her and he has big secrets to tell," revealed a family friend.

"She's asking pals to get the message to Jon that if he moves forward with the project, and any of them say one word about her, she's going to slap him, the production company and the network with a major lawsuit so fast it'll make their heads spin."

The 71-year-old diva met Jon, a former hairstylist, when he designed a wig for her in the 1974 comedy "For Pete's Sake." Sparks flew and they lived together from 1974 until the early '80s.

They never married or had children but remained on good terms for a while after the split. In fact, Barbra is the godmother to Jon's daughters and is also friendly with their mother, Jon's ex-wife Christine Forsyth, a film producer.

This isn't the first time Jon – who produced big-screen blockbusters including "Man of Steel," "Flashdance," "Batman" and "Rain Man" and is former co-chairman of Sony-Columbia Pictures – has tried to cash in on his relationship with Barbra.

In 2009, the wheeler-dealer shopped his autobiography, "Studio Head," but locked horns with Barbra after she heard he intended to reveal juicy details about their life together.

She blasted the proposed book on her website, and Jon got such negative feedback he backed out of a deal. He tried again in 2012, but once again wound up shelving the project.

Now he's focused on making his kids the new Kardashians, and they've already shot some

TOP DOG LENO GETS REVENGE

JAY LENO has once again proven he's the king of late-night TV – and getting the last laugh on the naysayers at NBC who are putting him out to pasture.

Just nine months before being forced to hand over his hosting reigns to Jimmy Fallon, Jay's "Tonight Show" is not only handily beating second-place Jimmy Kimmel but also creaming his archrival David Letterman by the largest margin in four years.

ACCORDING TO A PAL, JAY SAID: "High ratings are the best revenge. When I go out, it'll be on the top of the heap. They'll be begging me to stay, just like they did before."

In the talk-show world, Jay Leno is the reigning ratings king

As The ENQUIRER reported last September, Jay, 63, was set to give up his late-night throne after network execs cut both his staff and salary. A source told us at the time that he didn't feel appreciated.

Leno began helming "The Tonight Show" in 1992 and has been the leader of the late-night pack for most of the past two decades. But that hasn't stopped NBC from ditching him for younger talent.

He was replaced by Conan O'Brien in 2009, but floundering ratings led to Jay's return in March 2010.

Now, according to the source, Jay is telling pals he may take his staff and move to another network after Fallon replaces him.

"As much as Jay loves 'The Tonight Show,' he's built his own brand," the source noted. "He could easily pack up and head to FOX.

"And they would offer him a bundle to do it."

CISSY ROCKED BY BOBBI K. MARRIAGE

Cissy Houston fears for her late daughter Whitney's fortune, says a source

WHITNEY HOUSTON's family is in panic mode over news that the singer's troubled daughter Bobbi Kristina plans on marrying her "adopted brother," say sources.

The 20-year-old, called Krissi by pals, has publicly announced her engagement to Nick Gordon, who was raised by the late Grammy-winning singer. And that has her 79-year-old grandmother Cissy Houston and other family members fearing for Whitney's fortune, the sources add.

"CISSY'S WORST FEARS ARE COMING true," a Houston family insider told The ENQUIRER. "She never trusted Nick and says he's an opportunist with no job. She's convinced that he's only marrying Krissi to get a piece of Whitney's $20 million estate."

The family keeps a close eye on the youngster, who's been plagued by emotional problems since her mom's tragic drug overdose death on Feb. 11, 2012.

Krissi's marriage plans so upset Cissy, she called a family meeting to discuss the disturbing turn of events.

Bobbi Kristina with fiance Nick Gordon

Sources say Cissy is determined to convince her granddaughter that she's making a big mistake. If that doesn't work, she'll instruct her attorney to draw up an airtight prenuptial agreement for Nick to sign.

Krissi, whose father is R&B singer Bobby Brown, shocked her family and viewers of last year's Lifetime reality series "The Houstons: On Our Own" when she revealed her engagement to 24-year-old Nick. Few took the announcement seriously, but on July 10, Krissi confirmed her wedding plans in a defiant Facebook message, declaring: "People need to seriously stop judging my relationship."

CORY WAS SUICIDAL

after being ditched by Lea – source

'Glee' hunk, 31, found dead after SPLIT FROM LOVER

Fans are leaving flowers at the Fairmont Pacific Rim in Vancouver, where Cory Monteith passed away

JUST days before his tragic death, "Glee" star Cory Monteith flew into a jealous rage over racy photos his girlfriend Lea Michele posted online during a trip to Cabo San Lucas, Mexico, say sources.

What's more, The ENQUIRER has learned that the on-screen/off-screen couple had been fighting in the weeks leading up to the 31-year-old actor's death, because Lea, 26, believed he was headed into a downward spiral of drug and alcohol abuse.

"Four months ago, Lea gave Cory a blistering ultimatum that he seek treatment for cocaine and other drugs or she'd leave him," a source told The ENQUIRER. "She wanted to marry this guy and have a baby with him, but she refused to put up with his substance abuse problems."

Lea and Cory on the "Glee" set

Cory, who played quarterback-turned-crooner (Finn Hudson) on the hit FOX show, successfully completed a 30-day program, and the couple celebrated with a trip to Mexico in May.

"But within weeks Cory was drinking again, and Lea feared he was slipping," continued the source. "This time she wasn't going to put up with it. Over the Fourth of July weekend, she left Cory behind and went to Cabo San Lucas with some girlfriends."

Cory traveled to Vancouver to visit family, checking into the luxurious waterfront Fairmont Pacific Rim hotel on July 6. The next day, sources say he was blindsided when Lea posted several bikini-clad photos of herself on Twitter.

"At first he flew into a jealous rage," said a friend. "Then he grew upset and very despondent. Without Lea, it seemed like he was becoming suicidal."

In a show of his loneliness, he tweeted that he had one song on "repeat," Friendly Fires' "Paris," an apparent reference to a happy vacation he and Lea had taken to France last year. While Cory, who had an extensive history of substance abuse and rehab, had not been seen using drugs in the final week of his life, eyewitnesses in Vancouver told The ENQUIRER, though it was evident that he had been boozing.

ON JULY 6, HE WAS SPOTTED standing on the street with a couple of beer-drinking pals in front of The Shop, a local coffee house frequented by bikers.

"It's in a very seedy, crime-ridden area, where scoring drugs is about as easy as bumming a cigarette," a source revealed.

The actor was also seen having drinks at the Fairmont Pacific Rim hotel's lobby lounge "almost every evening," according to an eyewitness. On July 12, the night before he died, he was spotted boozing heavily at two Vancouver nightclubs – the Roxy and the Queen's Republic.

"He was downing shots of whiskey," the eyewitness said. "He didn't appear to be happy."

He returned to his hotel room alone around 2 a.m. and was found dead later that day. An autopsy was pending.

"Before any autopsy results were released, there was fear among his friends that in his haze of sadness he might have been pushed to commit suicide," the source added. "There's no doubt Cory went to his death missing Lea."

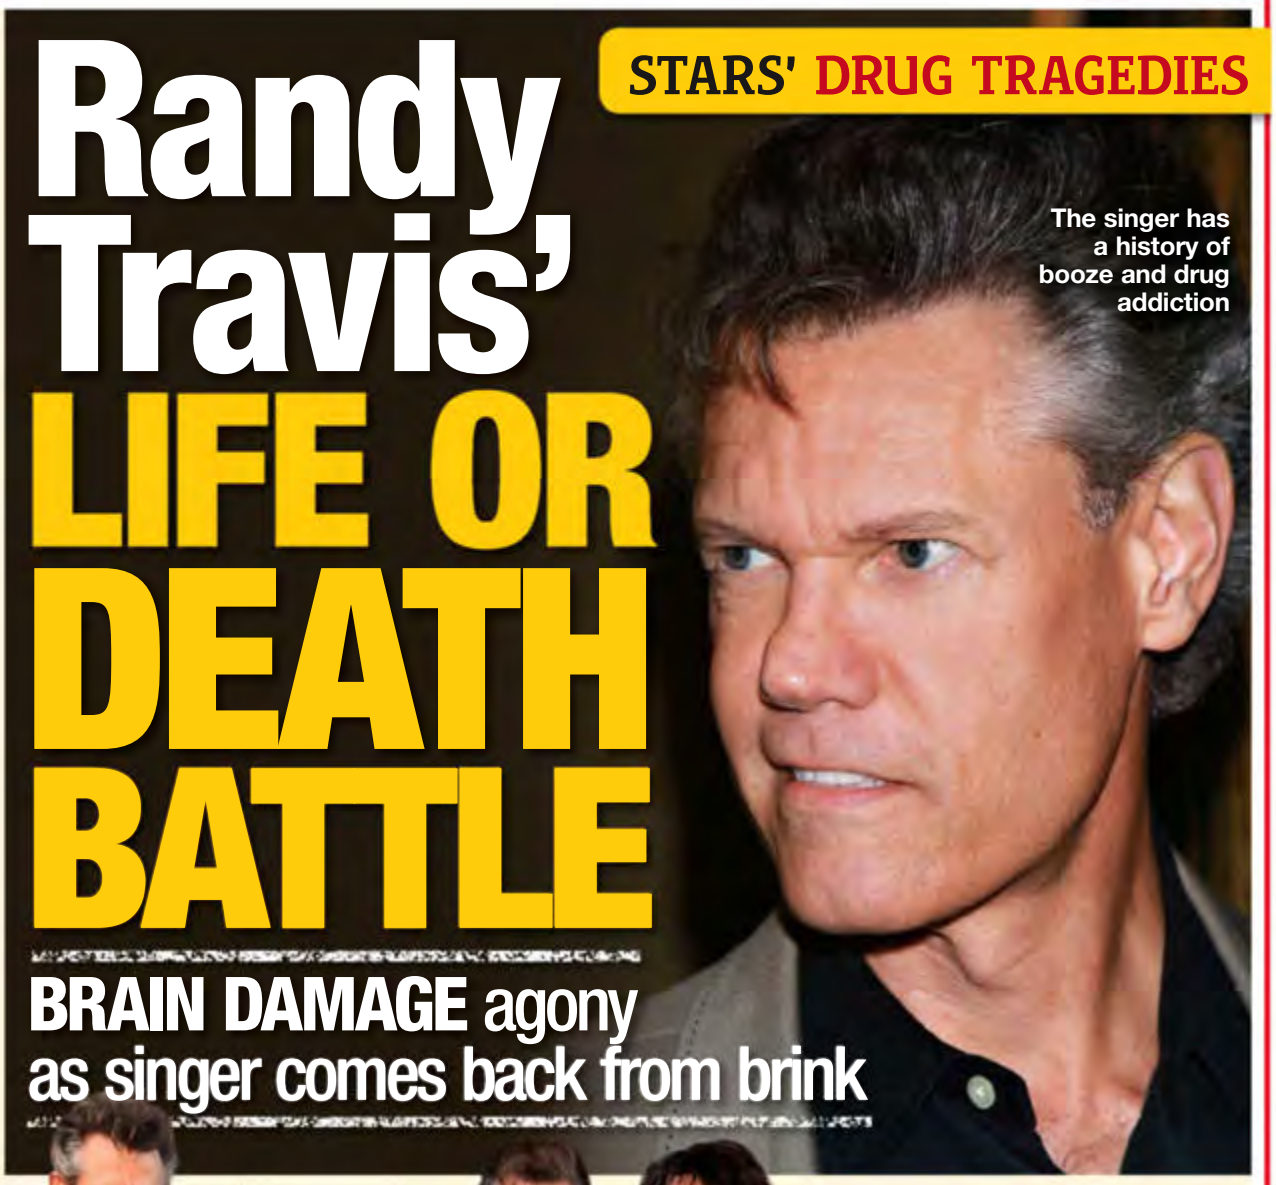
Randy Travis' LIFE OR DEATH BATTLE

BRAIN DAMAGE agony as singer comes back from brink



The singer has a history of booze and drug addiction

THE ENQUIRER has uncovered shocking secrets behind Randy Travis' life-or-death health crisis – and only we can reveal the minute-by-minute drama that's been unfolding inside his hospital room.

In a heart-wrenching revelation, sources tell The ENQUIRER that the country singer's family fears he may be brain damaged after suffering from congestive heart failure and a near-fatal stroke that left him in a coma.

"The family is petrified that Randy may have permanent brain damage," a source told The ENQUIRER. "They're all praying for a miracle."

Travis, 54, was admitted into the Baylor Medical Center at McKinney, in McKinney, Texas, on July 7 with a heart problem caused by a virus. Before being transferred to The Heart Hospital Baylor, doctors implanted a device into his heart to help blood flow. Three days later, he suffered a paralyzing stroke. Following emergency surgery to relieve pressure on his brain, he was heavily sedated – however, his brain-wave readings dropped to virtually nothing, raising concern that he was close to being "brain dead."

Harold Traywick

BUT JUST WHEN DOCS WERE talking about the possibility of "pulling the plug," Randy rallied. He opened his eyes and squeezed his fiancee Mary Beougher's hand.

"It is very uncommon for a person to come around so quickly when brain-wave levels plummet," said Dr. Alberto Espay, associate professor of neurology at the University of Cincinnati.

Although Travis remained in critical condition, his father, Harold Traywick, told The ENQUIRER: "He's moving his feet and arms, they removed the pump and his heart is beating on its own. And when someone entered his room, he followed them with his eyes. This may not seem like a major thing, but it's huge – it means his brain is active and aware."

Still, only time will tell if he'll be able to make a full recovery.

In another shocking revelation, sources tell The ENQUIRER that Travis had been abusing amphetamines before his medical crisis.

"Randy's addiction to speed coupled with his boozing weakened his heart," a source told The ENQUIRER. "He was drinking heavily and taking speed to help him get through his performances without passing out onstage.

"There were times when he went without sleep for days."

THE WOMEN IN HIS LIFE: Travis' life crashed following his divorce from Lib Hatcher, his wife of 19 years (left), after he was caught having an affair with current fiancee Mary Beougher

The "Three Wooden Crosses" singer has scored more than a dozen hits on the country and gospel charts. But his personal life crashed following his divorce from Lib Hatcher, his wife of 19 years and his manager for more than three decades, after he was caught having an affair with Mary, his former dentist's wife.

Over the past year, he's had a series of embarrassing run-ins with the law, including arrests for DUI and being found naked in public.

"He didn't drink or do drugs when we were together, and he was in good health," Lib told The ENQUIRER in an exclusive interview. "Randy has always been a very good person. Of course I still love him – you don't live with someone for 34 years and not have feelings for them. Now, he's in a bad way. It's not good." by JOHN BLOSSER

Iraq vet FIGHTING TO GET DOG BACK

Pooch helped soldier BEAT WAR TRAUMA

But new owner says MUTT WAS ABANDONED

AN Iraq War hero is waging yet another battle – to get his beloved service dog Layla back from someone he asked to look after her for a while.

"I can't believe this is happening," tattoo artist Tim McGill, 31, told The ENQUIRER.

"It's a nightmare. It's like somebody taking your kid away from you."

McGill enlisted in the Army in 2003 and served three tours in Iraq with the famed 1st Cavalry Division.

A BUDDY DIED IN HIS ARMS after their convoy was blown up by a roadside bomb, and since his discharge in 2008 he's suffered from post-traumatic stress disorder.

Doctors at a Veterans Affairs hospital recommended that McGill get a dog to help him cope, and in 2010 Layla – a mixed breed – came into his life.

"There were 10 puppies in the litter, but when Layla saw me, it was pretty much love at first sight," he said. "We did everything together. Layla even slept with me, and she really helped me get back on my feet."

But in August 2012, McGill enrolled in the Pittsburgh Arts Institute building in Lawrenceville, Pa., that allowed only service dogs. And Layla had yet to be certified.

McGill said that's when Laura Stratemier, a 28-year-old married mother of four, offered to care for Layla – in exchange for some tattoos – until the pooch earned her service dog certification.

Six months later, McGill finally got Layla classified as a service dog. But Laura refused to return Layla's calls and text messages.

Finally, McGill went to her house in Pittsburgh.

"Laura started yelling that I was never going to get Layla back," he said.

"I picked Layla up, and started to walk to my car and Laura grabbed Layla's leash. I let Layla go, then went back to grab her. That's when Laura hit me with a right hook. I fell to the ground, and she started kicking me. I was in shock. I couldn't believe she was attacking me. I've been in a war."

McGill says he called police, and when they arrived, Laura claimed he'd hit her.

While McGill denies it, he was charged with simple assault. The charges were dropped when he agreed to attend anger management classes.

"I've been trying to get Layla back for months. I've been to court, I've been to anger management, I've been to mediation, I've been to counseling, the mayor, a lawyer, but nobody's been able to help," he said.

"I'm heartbroken and stressed out again. I don't sleep well and have anxiety attacks. If only I could get Layla back I know I'd be OK."

When contacted by The ENQUIRER, Laura said she agreed to look after Layla while Tim got his life back in order.

"But when I didn't hear from Tim for months on end, I figured he'd abandoned Layla," she explained.

"Now he suddenly says, 'Oh, I want her back.' But how do I know he won't abandon Layla again? That's not a risk I'm prepared to take. Layla is staying with me."

LONELY TOM CRUISE-ING FOR LOVE

NEARLY a year after his divorce from Katie Holmes, love-starved Tom Cruise is desperately trying to land a girlfriend, a source says.

The 51-year-old superstar, who's worth an estimated $270 million, has even enlisted his teenage son Connor to help him find Miss Right. But he reportedly has his heart set on landing a stunner in her 20s, and that could be a mission impossible.

"Tom is lonely and very much wants a woman in his life right now," disclosed an insider.

"He's not used to being alone and believes that appearing to be a failure in the love department lessens his star power. He's been combing through his contact list to call old girlfriends, and he's hitting on young model types in hotspots – but so far, no luck."

The actor has a laugh with some lovely ladies at Cecconi's restaurant in West Hollywood on July 6

IT'S A HUGE COMEDOWN for the once red-hot action hero, who's already a three-time loser in marriage.

"Tom's stock as a great catch has plummeted," said the insider. "Women are more sympathetic to Katie since their bust-up. They see Tom as controlling and, with his Scientology connection, just downright creepy."

To help him score chicks, Tom has turned to 18-year-old Connor, a well-regarded club deejay, a source says. He's been spotted cruising hip clubs like Hyde in Hollywood, where he caught his adopted son's deejay sets and "scoped out the girls," noted the insider.

Last year, Connor introduced his dad to his knockout "Playboy" model friends Carla and Melissa Howe at a club, but Tom left early.

One problem is Father Time. As The ENQUIRER disclosed early this year, the actor appeared to be losing his hair while filming in London.

"Tom is sensitive about being over the hill and thinks a younger woman will make him more relevant with younger audiences," said the source.

Tom with "Rock of Ages" co-star Julianne Hough

But when it comes to romance, it seems he's no longer top gun.

As The ENQUIRER revealed, Tom's 24-year-old "Rock of Ages" co-star, Julianne Hough, was angling for a hook-up with him, but Tom's pals "warned him she most likely wanted to use him as a career stepping-stone," said the insider.

Meanwhile, sources say that Tom is now hot for gorgeous, 29-year-old model Jessica White, who previously dated Sean Penn and recently became a Scientologist.

LEAH REMINI's departure from the Church of Scientology has led to an all-out battle between some of Hollywood's biggest stars!

The 43-year-old former "King of Queens" actress recently made a dramatic exit from the controversial church after she said she was subjected to years of "interrogations" and "thought modification" for questioning leader David Miscavige's heavy-handed rule of the organization.

NOW THE CHURCH'S TOP MEMBERS are terrified that other cash-generous celebrities will follow Leah's lead – and they're rallying to make sure it doesn't happen.

"The Church of Scientology was blindsided by Leah's exit," an insider revealed. "Now the organization is on high-alert to discourage others from splitting.

"Whenever someone famous leaves the group and speaks out about bad experiences they've had, it adds to all the negative stuff that's already out there.

"Behind the scenes at the church right now, there's a bitter tug-of-war between the organization's die-hard members and those who have defected."

On one side are some of Scientology's most powerful devotees, including Tom Cruise, John Travolta, Juliette Lewis, Kirstie Alley and Jenna Elfman, who are working together to make sure other parishioners don't follow in Leah's footsteps.

But Leah has her own league of supporters among celebs who've also turned their backs on the church, such as Lisa Marie Presley, Katie Holmes, Jason Beghe and Catherine Oxenberg.

But so far, nothing has gelled between them. And even a recent endorsement from Cher, who called Tom one of her five top lovers, hasn't helped his quest.

Still, "Tom has set a goal to land a serious girlfriend by year's end, and he'd like to be married again within a year or two," said the source. "While things don't look very promising now, when Tom sets his mind to something, he usually gets it."

SCIENTOLOGY CRISIS
AFTER LEAH REMINI QUITS

Controversial church fears IT WILL LOSE MILLION$

clutches after her divorce from Tom Cruise last year.

"Chasing Amy" actress Carmen Llywelyn told The ENQUIRER that her seven-years-long association with the church, which ended in 2002, nearly ruined her life. And character actor Jason Beghe, who's appeared in a host of TV shows including "Californication" and "Chicago Fire," defected after having paid the church $1 million over 12 years.

Leah has said she quit the group because of policies that don't allow parishioners to question Miscavige's management and the reported abuse of members of its Sea Org militaristic religious order. She also criticized the church for forcing followers to "disconnect" from family members who leave it. The church previously stated with regard to Ms. Remini that it "respects the privacy of parishioners and has no further comment."

One former Sea Org member, Mike Rinder, who a church representative described as an "anti-Scientologist,"

Katie Holmes and daughter Suri defected after her divorce from Tom Cruise last year claimed Leah was scolded at Tom Cruise and Katie Holmes' 2006 wedding after she asked about Miscavige's wife, Shelly, who reportedly is almost never seen in public.

"She is not missing. Any reports that she is missing are false," an attorney for Shelly said.

REPORTS SAY LEAH WAS PUT through interrogations, blacklisted within the church and had to endure "thought modification" for five years. The church previously characterized reports that Remini was subjected to interrogations and thought modification as well as statements about church leader David Miscavige as "absurd" and "pure nonsense."

"Leah is stepping back from a regime she believes is corrupt," the source said. "She doesn't think any group should tear apart a family or abuse someone in the name of 'religion.'"

"Jennifer finally saw the writing on the wall as Justin – who does love her, no question – got freaked and made every excuse to delay their 'summer' wedding," said a source. "First he blamed their work schedules, and supposed construction delays on their multimillion-dollar Bel-Air mansion. Then he told Jen he wanted to wait until he had time to take her on a 'real' honeymoon, even though she's told him she's happy to put a honeymoon on hold. Finally, Jen realized Justin was pulling away from her. She begged him to tell her what was bothering him – and he dropped the bomb, admitting that the idea of marriage just freaks him out. He loves her, but doesn't understand why they just can't continue living together the way they are now. Jennifer was devastated!" After deciding she's still genuinely crazy about the guy, Jen laid down an ultimatum: Justin must undergo intensive therapy to work through his commitment issues, or – buh-bye! Said a source: "At first, Justin was reluctant, but finally agreed. He's already closeted with a therapist – and Jen's actually participating in the sessions." Stay tuned.

"She told Kurt, 'Our life works just fine the way it is. If I'd wanted to get married, we'd have done it decades ago.' Kurt was devastated. Hoping to pull off something wonderful, he was suddenly being ridiculed by Goldie, who demanded he cancel the entire thing. ALL SHOOK UP DEPT.: My sources swear that top secret negotiations by a group of billionaire businessmen who want to buy ELVIS PRESLEY's Graceland, America's most iconic home – except for the White House – are underway right now; and if the sale happens, please remember I told ya so first! My sources are good, details are sketchy – but stay tuned, "Forbes" and other business mags!

With 8-year-old daughter Daisy in tow, MEG RYAN dropped in for a nosh at Manhattan's legendary Katz's Deli, where she filmed her legendary "When Harry Met Sally" orgasm scene, but did NOT sit at the "action" table, which features a sign that reads, "Where Harry met Sally...hope you have what she had!" As Meg ordered, Daisy peered at photos of celebs festooning the walls, spotted the iconic pic of Mom...er, making a very funny face and asked: "What are you doing in that photo, Mommy?" My SpyWitness says Meg went bright pink and their waitress suppressed a giggle as the star stammered to Little One: "Umm...umm...I'll tell you all about it a few years from now." FUN FACT: About once a week, some wisenheimer will drop into the 125-year-old deli and re-enact – to either cheers or jeers – Meg's climactic performance!

STICKY STAR: Backstage after seeing the Broadway hit "Spider-Man: Turn Off The Dark" with her kids, Heidi Klum becomes prey in a web spun by the show's cast.

■ It's said "love means never having to say you're sorry"... but JOHNNY DEPP ain't buyin' that lame old adage! Feeling guilty after 27-year-old girlfriend AMBER HEARD complained she's been terribly lonely because he's spent so much time away from her promoting home-on-the-range turkey "The Lone Ranger," Johnny went out and scouted a beautiful antique brooch that had once belonged to European royalty – a diamond and emerald-encrusted platinum trinket priced at $40,000. Reports My Tonto Tattler: "Johnny set up a romantic dinner and put the brooch into a red balloon tied to a bottle of expensive champagne. After dinner he told Amber to pop the balloon – and she was stunned when that fabulous piece of jewelry fell out. Some guys just have the cool to know that sometimes, love does mean saying, 'I'm sorry!'"

■ ANDERSON COOPER SEX TAPE SCOOP! Let me quickly be clear: My favorite gay newsman does NOT appear in the jaw-dropping new porn video which allegedly stars a very sexy female relative – who's looking to score BIG buck$$ from worldwide Internet release – but he's worried sick the scandal will send his beloved 89-year-old mom, famed fashion designer GLORIA VANDERBILT, into a state of shock! Said an insider: "Anderson doesn't care that his sexy female relative may have made a sex tape and wants to profit from it. His concern is how it will affect his mother. Gloria's way up there in years, and she'll certainly be upset about this." Anderson's relative, a hottie in her 20s, is said to be after fame more than fortune. "She hopes this video will put her on the map," said my source. "She points to how porn videos of KIM KARDASHIAN and PARIS HILTON helped catapult them into the limelight! And she thinks she may become even more famous than Anderson!"

■ THREE CHEERS – hell, make it 25,000 cheers – for old pal DAVID DUNHAM, prez of Dunham Books, whose film "The 25,000 Mile Love Story" just premiered at LA's Downtown Film Festival after winning the New York Film Festival's "Best Humanitarian Documentary" prize! Good news: In a future issue, ENQUIRER readers will get an exclusive peek at the riveting book the flick's based on – the story of Swiss athlete SERGE ROETHELI, who spent five years running across six continents, trailed by wife NICOLE on a motorcycle, to aid suffering kids in developing countries. I LOVED this book!

■ Movie fans know screen hunk BRADLEY COOPER's mom Gloria moved in with him after his dad/her hubby died two years ago...so how's that working out? Pretty good, mostly – but the star admits he still does dumb stuff that makes Mom crazy, just like when he was a little boy! Reports a pal: "Bradley was out running errands for his mom and had just picked up her dry cleaning when he popped into a coffee shop, bought a cuppa joe to go, and kindly posed for a souvenir photo for two young 20-somethings. The girls just wouldn't stop chatting him up, so he started backing out of the shop as he said his goodbyes, bumped into a table and...SPLASH!...spilled coffee all over Mom's just-cleaned clothes. Bradley laughed and said, 'Mom's always telling me to stay focused on the task at hand!'"

■ Speaking of kids not always making parents happy: When SELENA GOMEZ's folks spotted that headline-making Instagram pic of darling daughter cozy with JUSTIN BIEBER again, they phoned in a fury. Selena told a pal: "My parents used to love Justin, but they feel he's not the same anymore. They think his actions are dangerous and they fear for my safety." Added the pal: "With all Justin's issues involving drugs, and his fast-driving escapades, they're afraid. They don't want the negativity that surrounds him to hurt Selena. They're upset to find she's carrying on with him again. But Selena reminded her parents she's old enough at 20 to make her own decisions – and if she wants to get back together with Justin, she will! She told them, 'I know the real Justin...you don't!'" Here's my exclusive for Selena's folks: No question things are heating up. My SpyWitness spotted them smooching at an LA restaurant (NOT the one where he disgustingly peed in a bucket)!...And how was YOUR week?

ENQUIRER EXCLUSIVE

Matt Lauer's FLIRTY TEXTS TO INTERN, 20

Bring your "A" game tomorrow young lady! Look forward to seeing you.
You know I will! Can't wait. Are you the talent for the segment?
Yes! I will be interviewing you. Don't screw up.
And no daisy duke shorts with flip flops!
You got it, dude.

Lucie Fink posted about having lunch with Matt and shared their text messages

He's 'OBSESSED' with pretty brunette

What 'Today' show host, 55, IS HIDING FROM WIFE

NOTORIOUS womanizer Matt Lauer is caught up in a new scandal over his wandering eye – this time it's because of a 20-year-old college coed!

The ENQUIRER has learned the 55-year-old "Today" show host is "obsessed" with gorgeous Johns Hopkins University student Lucie Fink. He's reportedly been sending her flirty texts and even whisked her away to a swanky New York City hotel for lunch, all apparently behind the back of his wife Annette Roque.

Lucie has made several appearances on "Today" over the past 15 months to discuss social issues – and she's been interviewed by Matt four of those times.

Meanwhile, the hottie appeared in the July 7 issue of "Cosmo" magazine, wearing a sexy bikini and she boasts on her blog that she "wants to be famous."

She's also gushed about her relationship with Matt, according to the source who saw the post: "Just ate lunch alone with Matt Lauer at the Four Seasons Hotel's restaurant in NYC," she recently posted. "He is SO nice...my new mentor :)"

But a friend of the pretty coed, who is working as an intern at a New York ad agency, says Lucie's being naive if she can't see Matt's true intentions.

"She's going into this completely blind and innocent," the friend revealed. "She thinks Matt just wants to be her mentor."

The friend, however, speculated that "he wants to bed her. And Lucie is clearly flattered by the attention, making a point to note that Matt took her 'alone' to lunch."

Lucie has also shared flirty texts that sources confirm Lucie believes came from Matt, advising her not to wear skimpy denim "Daisy Duke" shorts on the show.

"You can argue that is really not appropriate behavior from a married man who's supposed to be mentoring a young girl. Or in good taste!" a source said.

"It's apparent Matt's thinking about her wearing sexy clothing."

In an exclusive interview with The ENQUIRER, Lucie's father, veteran New York disc jockey Jimmy Fink, insisted that Matt's dealings with his daughter have been "professional and appropriate."

"Lucie has a steady boyfriend and sees Matt as someone who's trying to help her," Fink said. "My wife and I couldn't be more thankful for his help and support." He added that a family friend, who is a "Today" show producer, arranged the lunch.

But an insider at the "Today" show believes that ladies' man Matt is up to his old tricks.

The father of three has a long history of cheating scandals. Just two years after their 1998 wedding, Annette, 47, learned that Matt had an affair with married 26-year-old Jessica Thorman while they were engaged.

And in 2006, while pregnant with the couple's third child, Annette filed for divorce amid rumors that Matt had been involved with "Today" colleague Natalie Morales during the coverage of the Winter Olympics in Torino, Italy.

Annette withdrew the paperwork a month later.

"MATT'S A HOUND DOG," SAID THE insider. "The word is he's 'obsessed' with this cute college kid, who keeps getting invited back to appear on set with him.

"Even if nothing physical has happened between them, Annette will be furious to hear the rumors."

And so will NBC execs, says the insider.

"Matt's already on thin ice," the insider added. "He's enemy No. 1 as far as the public is concerned after forcing out Ann Curry. And Ann initially tried to exact revenge by telling 'Today' bosses that Matt was a snake with a wandering eye. She told them what she knew of the rumors about Matt and Natalie as well as those of his flirtatious relationship with a former blonde intern who worked for the show.

"Meanwhile, the ratings are in the toilet, the show's in turmoil and Matt seems to be skirt-chasing again.

"A cheating scandal is all he needs right now to get him tossed out of here for good."

'NCIS' bosses FIRE WARNING SHOT!

FANS of "NCIS" are outraged that CBS honchos let beloved star Cote de Pablo go from the top-rated show – and they're likely to be even more upset to learn that it was all just a show of force!

A source close to "NCIS" says that the 33-year-old Chilean American actress – who has played former Mossad agent Ziva David for eight seasons – got into a contract dispute, and when negotiations broke down, she walked.

AMAZING APPEAL OF MELISSA MCCARTHY

Plus-size star BIGGEST THING IN HOLLYWOOD

WHAT's the magic behind the amazing appeal of plus-size star Melissa McCarthy?

She's won an Emmy, so[illegible] than $1 BILLION worth of movie tickets worldwide, and she's kicking man-butt at the box office with her new comedy "The Heat."

Now, psychological experts are summing up McCarthy's appeal in two simple words – she's everywoman!

"Audiences love Melissa because she doesn't let her physical imperfections stop her from getting what she wants in life," Dr. Carole Lieberman, a Beverly Hills-based celebrity psychiatrist, told The ENQUIRER. "She's tough, she's funny, she's smart and she refuses to let the fact that she doesn't look like Barbie get her down. Women relate to her struggles and are inspired by how well she overcomes them. She's everywoman.

"MEN LIKE MELISSA TOO, BECAUSE WITH her, what you see is what you get."

Dr. Lillian Glass, author and media personality, told The ENQUIRER: "Melissa is popular because she looks like what America looks like right now.

"She's not your typical stick-figure movie star. People and actors that are a little overweight are the new aesthetic. Weight does not indicate how people relate to you, as Melissa is clearly proving.

"Personality trumps everything. That's why Melissa will be a big star for years to come."

Audiences and critics agree, with McCarthy's first regular TV gig on "Gilmore Girls" leading to a starring role on the hit sitcom "Mike & Molly" and a 2011 Emmy.

But the former stand-up comic really hit the big-time with an Academy Award nomination for her hilarious breakout performance in the 2011 comedy "Bridesmaids," which grossed a whopping $288 million worldwide, including $169 million in the U.S.

That second-banana role led to a starring slot opposite Jason Bateman in "Identity Thief," a sleeper hit that stunned industry insiders when it brought in $174 million worldwide.

But the 42-year-old actress who has two young daughters with her "Bridesmaids" co-star Ben Falcone – proved she's the gold standard when "The Heat," her comedy with Oscar winner Sandra Bullock, beat the big boys at the box office.

With a $39 million opening in June, "The Heat" easily won its face-to-face standoff against "White House Down" with Oscar winner Jamie Foxx and "Magic Mike" man-candy Channing Tatum, which only scored $24.9 million. "The Heat" also scorched mega-star Johnny Depp's $29.2 million opening in "The Lone Ranger."

"Melissa is on her way to becoming one of this town's biggest stars and top earners," noted a Hollywood insider.

"After 'Bridesmaids,' she was thought of as the 'go-to' co-star for bigger names, but now she's considered as THE star of her future projects. Sandra Bullock should be thanking Melissa for making 'The Heat' such a huge hit!"

STOP! IN THE NAME OF LOVE

Families driving wedge between ASHLEE SIMPSON & DIANA ROSS' SON

ASHLEE SIMPSON and her new squeeze Evan Ross have been joined at the hip in recent weeks, but their famous families are desperate to pry the young couple apart!

The Simpson clan thinks 24-year-old Evan – the playboy son of Motown legend Diana Ross – is too much of a partier for single mom Ashlee. Meanwhile, the former Supreme believes Ashlee, 28, has far too much baggage for her boy.

Rumors of a romance were sparked when Ashlee and the budding actor/musician were spotted holding hands while heading to Teddy's nightclub at the Roosevelt Hotel in L.A. on July 1. The following day, they were photographed arriving in the same car to have lunch in West Hollywood. They celebrated the Fourth of July at a bash in Malibu, and on July 8, Evan was seen leaving Ashlee's Hollywood Hills home.

"Ashlee is head over heels for this guy," said a source. "They've barely been apart since their first date."

Mom Tina and sister Jessica don't think Evan is the right guy for Ashlee

But while Ashlee's family – including mom Tina, dad Joe and "Fashion Star" sis Jessica – want her to be happy, they don't think Evan is the right guy for her.

"Evan has definitely earned his reputation as a partier," noted the source. "He's young, rich, loves the attention he gets from dating celebrities, and has no interest in settling down."

ASHLEE DIVORCED FALL OUT BOY rocker Pete Wentz in 2011 after three years of marriage, and they share a 4-year-old son, Bronx. Pete has moved on to a serious relationship with model Meagan Camper, while Ashlee's big sis Jessica just had her second child with fiance Eric Johnson. The source says that seeing everyone around her settling down has made Ashlee crave a stable relationship.

But "Evan is the worst possible choice for someone with a kid who is looking for a serious boyfriend," the source pointed out. "Her friends and family are warning her not to get in too deep."

Meanwhile, Evan's been getting similar lectures from his superstar mom.

"Plain and simple, Diana doesn't approve of Ashlee because of her screwy family and wild-child reputation," said another source. "She thinks Evan should date someone with less bag-gage."

"Diana told Evan she likes Ashlee well enough, just not for him and definitely not as a future daughter-in-law."

Diana, 69, who had a love child with Motown Records honcho Berry Gordy, "seems to have forgotten her own past," continued the source. "But Evan throws it in her face every time she slams Ashlee, which is often."

For now, the family objections appear to be falling on deaf ears.

"Ashlee and Evan know their families want the best for them, but they don't appreciate the meddling," the source added. "They're adults and they're going to do what they want. For now, that means being together."

TAYLOR'S HOT FOR 'CRIMINAL MIND'

MAN-hungry Taylor Swift's got a "Criminal Mind"!

The "Red" singer, 23, has flipped for actor Matthew Gray Gubler, 33, who plays brilliant but quirky violent-criminal profiler Dr. Spencer Reid on the hit CBS series.

"Taylor is nuts about Matthew," said a source close to Swift.

Insiders say Gubler, a former fashion model, was a special guest at Taylor's Fourth of July bash at her $17 million oceanfront mansion in Rhode Island.

But she was apparently trying to keep the romance under wraps.

The cast of "Criminal Minds"

"SHE POSTED PHOTOGRAPHS from the party on her blog that showed her backup dancers, but Matthew's picture was conspicuously absent," said a source.

"It was as if Taylor was purposely trying to keep his presence there on the downlow."

Gubler gave away the secret when he posted a picture on his Twitter page from the party. He had the same American flag face paint as Taylor's and the kitchen cabinets in Gubler's picture were identical to those in hers.

But it wasn't long before Gubler's Twitter photo was removed.

"Taylor's trying to keep the whole relationship with Matthew secret for now," said an insider. "That's why she's saying they're 'just friends.' The truth is, she wants to get to know him better before they take the relationship public."

The two may have a difficult time getting together because he works in Los Angeles and she's in the middle of a big concert tour. And he's likely to be wary considering that Taylor has dated a long list of actors and singers, including Joe Jonas, John Mayer, Taylor Lautner, Cory Monteith, Jake Gyllenhaal and One Direction's Harry Styles – several of whom she's penned songs about after the inevitable split.

"Taylor wants to fly Matthew out to visit her on tour this summer," said the source.

"But Matthew's pals are warning him to watch out. They don't want to see him become the subject of one of Taylor's infamous breakup songs!"

LEONARDO DICAPRIO is playing the same Hollywood dating game as his idol Jack Nicholson!

The "Great Gatsby" stud, 38, prefers his women to be years younger – just like 76-year-old "Wolf" man Jack.

"Leo likes to date girls much younger than he is – in part because Jack has always done it," said a source close to the "Titanic" heartthrob.

"His last few girlfriends have all been in their early 20s."

THE ACTOR'S LATEST squeeze, Victoria's Secret model Toni Garrn, just turned 21, and leggy cover girl Gisele Bundchen – now Mrs. Tom Brady – was only 19 when she started dating DiCaprio in 2000.

The "Inception" star has also romanced supermodels Bar Refaeli, 28, and Erin Heatherton, 24.

Before hooking up with Toni, DiCaprio was spotted cavorting with a crowd of bikini-clad cuties on a yacht off the French Riviera.

Jack has romanced Anjelica Huston (above) and Lara Flynn Boyle, among others

"Leo loves to be surrounded by a gaggle of model types young enough to be his daughters," added the source. "And that's right out of Jack's playbook."

Nicholson was 36 when he hooked up with the love of his life, then-22-year-old Anjelica Huston.

Their 16-year romance ended when Huston learned that actress Rebecca Broussard, then in her mid-20s, was expecting Nicholson's baby.

And the Hollywood skirt-chaser was 62 when he began seeing then 29-year-old "Twin Peaks" sexpot Lara Flynn Boyle in 1999. When asked to describe the appeal of younger women, Nicholson replied: "As I remember it – flesh. That's basically what it's about."

As The ENQUIRER has reported, the three-time Oscar winner still keeps a flock of gorgeous young actresses

WILL SLAMS JADA

HOLLYWOOD power couple Will and Jada Pinkett Smith are at war over their 12-year-old daughter, Willow.

The precocious preteen recently released a sexed-up video for her new single, "Summer Fling," in which she sings about midnight walks on the beach and prances around with boys who look MUCH older than her.

A source says mom Jada gave the project the green light – and now dad Will is furious!

In December, The ENQUIRER revealed that Will started a family "boot camp" to bring his kids back in line after Willow and her brother, Jaden, 15, pedaled a series of out-of-control antics.

In April 2012, Willow took to her Tumblr page to write a disturbing post in which she made shocking references to mental illness, suicide and drug use. Jaden, meanwhile, caused a stir of controversy when he was accused of blasting a female fan in an expletive-filled tirade on social media, which he denied.

"WILL AND JADA ARE bickering nonstop about their children," continued the source. "They're locked in a tug of war and don't agree on anything these days.

"Jada is very strong-willed, but now Will is threatening to put his foot down once and for all.

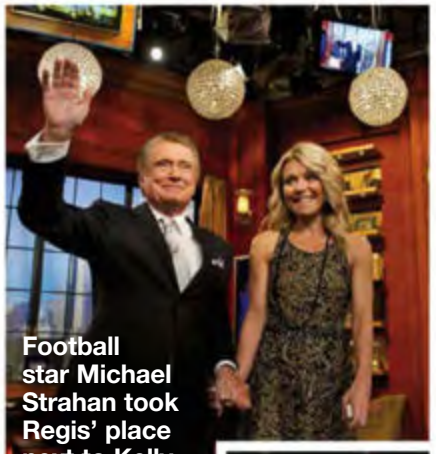
REGIS' REVENGE

New show will PROVE 'Live' execs were wrong!



Football star Michael Strahan took Regis' place next to Kelly Ripa on "Live"

DON'T count him out just Regis Philbin is getting back at everyone who said he was too old for television by taking on a brand-new project – at age 81. The former "Live with Regis and Kelly" host is returning to the small screen on a new sports program, and he's determined to prove he's still got what it takes to deliver ratings gold.

SOURCES SAY HE PARTICULARLY wants to stick it to the "Live" execs who prodded him to give up his plum day job in November 2011.

"Regis desperately wants to prove the naysayers wrong," said a source. "When he left 'Live,' a lot of people were saying his best days

"He's determined to prove he's still got what it takes"

"The bosses at 'Live' wanted to see someone younger paired with Kelly Ripa."

But as retired football star Michael Strahan settled in next to Kelly, Regis – who's suffered numerous health woes – began taking small TV jobs. He played Betty White's love interest on TV Land's "Hot in Cleveland." He also filled in for Hoda Kotb on NBC's "Today" show and as guest host for Piers Morgan on his CNN talk show.

AND NOW HE HAS A FULL-TIME GIG as the host of "Crowd Goes Wild," a live, roundtable panel discussion about sports on the new FOX Sports 1 cable network, beginning Aug. 19.

While Regis' wife, Joy, isn't thrilled about the new job, he couldn't be happier.

According to the source, Regis huffed to a pal: "I'll show them who's over

MARIE LOSES JOB, GAINS A LIFE!

THE Hallmark Channel is pulling the plug on Marie Osmond's talk show after just one season – but sources say she's looking on the bright side.

"Every cloud has a silver lining, and for Marie this means she'll finally be able to slow down and spend more time with her family," a source close to her told The ENQUIRER.

"Between her talk show and her gig in Las Vegas with her brother Donny, Marie was running herself ragged."

The source says that Marie has been filming two talk-show episodes a day in L.A., hopping a 4 p.m. flight for Las Vegas, and then performing with Donny at the Flamingo Hotel.

Marie was running herself ragged between her TV show and Vegas gig

"After the show, she'd grab a midnight flight back to L.A. and then start everything all over again," continued the source. "Now, she'll finally have some time for herself and her family."

That's especially important to 53-year-old Marie because she's [redacted] first grandchild.

As The ENQUIRER was first to report, Marie's eldest son, Steve Craig, 30, is finally making good on his promise to give the superstar a gran INSIDERS SAY STEVE AND HIS WIFE Claire are praying for a boy. As we reported in 2011, the couple hope to name their baby Michael in tribute to Steve's adopted brother, who committed suicide at age 18.

"Now Marie will have more time to bond with the baby," noted the source. "She said, 'God has a plan for all of us, so I have to believe this is just part of His plan for me!' "

TORI'S SUNKEN CHEST DISAPPEARS

Did surgery fix HER FREAKY BOOBS?

The actress' chest had a peculiar dent (right), but it appears to have been repaired

WHY is Tori Spelling so happy to flaunt her bikini body? Because she had her "dented" boobs repaired!

Sources say the former "Beverly Hills, 90210" star decided to treat herself for her birthday and fix her flawed bustline for summer.

"If your car gets a dent, you take it to the body shop and fix it – and that's what Tori did in a way," a source close to the mother of four told The ENQUIRER.

"She turned 40 in May and decided to give herself – and her husband – a present that would make them both happy."

SPELLING AND HER HUBBY, 46-YEAR-OLD Canadian actor Dean McDermott, are the parents of Liam, 6, Stella, 5, Hattie, 1 1/2, and Finn, 11 months.

She's wanted to have her breasts redone for a while, the source said, but motherhood kept her too busy.

"Tori finally sat down, did the research and booked an appointment," revealed the source. "Now she couldn't be happier, and she's kicking herself for not doing it earlier."

As these exclusive photos show, Tori enjoys flaunting her new assets – and a top plastic surgeon says her procedure produced fabulous results.

"Tori looks great!" Dr. Anthony Youn, who hasn't treated Spelling, told The ENQUIRER. "It appears that she may have had a pectus excavatum, which is a chest that looks 'caved in.' I suspect that she may have had it repaired with fat injections, which work nicely to fill in areas like chest depressions.

"The surgeon did a nice job and may have even upsized her breast implants."

Tori's pal added: "She loves her new boobs and so does Dean. He's actually gone out and bought a bunch of new bikinis for her. Tori liked her body before, but now she LOVES it!"

AFTER giving birth within days of each other, brand-new BFFs Kim Kardashian and Jessica Simpson are bonding over their new babies and post-pregnancy paunches.

Kim turned to Jessica for advice early on in her pregnancy when she realized she was quickly packing on pounds. By the time daughter North arrived on June 15, a source says the 32-year-old reality star had gained 100 pounds and was tipping the scales at more than 220.

"Fashion Star" Jessica could relate – she also blew up during her first pregnancy with daughter Maxwell, but managed to drop 70 pounds after she signed a $4 million spokesperson contract with Weight Watchers.

Fortunately for Jessica, 33, she didn't gain nearly as much weight the second time around with son Ace Knute, who arrived on June 30.

"KIM REACHED OUT TO JESSICA toward the end of her first trimester, just as her weight was exploding," revealed a source. "Kim sympathized with Jess over all the nasty comments about how huge she got when she was pregnant with Maxie, and Kim thought Jess could help her avoid the same pitfalls."

Kim also asked Jessica for help in coming up with a game plan to lose the weight after she gave birth – and Jess was happy to share what worked for her, says the source.

"Before long, they were talking on the phone several times a day, sharing their tales of woe about their bodily aches and pains, hormonal surges and about how their men were adapting."

Kim's baby daddy is hip-hop mogul Kanye West, while Jessica's mate is her fiance, former NFL player Eric Johnson.

THE FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN THE women has grown even stronger in recent weeks. Since they live just a few miles apart, they've been able to get together at each other's homes.

Jessica has also been growing close to the rest of Kim's famous family, including sister Kourtney, whose daughter, Penelope, is the same age as Jess' girl.

And new moms Kim and Jessica will be spending even more time together, as they've turned to celebrity trainer Gunnar Peterson to come up with a made-for-two custom workout program they can follow. The friendship has been an ego-saver for Kim, says the source, and she's grateful she has someone who understands how hard it is to go from "hot" to "not."

Kanye West

"Jessica knows what it's like to get slammed over weight gains," the source added. "She's been counseling Kim to ignore the negativity and just focus on her precious baby."

Ask the Vet

WITH DR. JEFF LACROIX

Owning a pet can be a rewarding – but often puzzling – experience. ENQUIRER columnist, top veterinarian Dr. Jeff LaCroix, answers the toughest questions about your animal friends.

DO ANIMALS FEEL PAIN LIKE HUMANS?

Q. Help us settle a family argument. Do animals feel pain the same way humans do? They seem so stoic.

A. It is difficult to assess or even recognize pain in animals. Sometimes it is obvious, if the animal is whimpering or limping. But often they don't show pain outright. So we try to identify it by measuring stress responses, such as changes in heart rate or levels of body chemicals and hormones that respond to stress. Pain management, as in humans, may involve surgery, physical therapy, weight reduction, nutritional supplements, acupuncture, cold laser and painkillers tailored to the specific condition. It's important for pet owners to understand that nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs, such as ibuprofen (Motrin) and naproxen (Aleve) should never be used in dogs and cats. Acetaminophen (Tylenol) can be used cautiously in dogs, but never in cats. Aspirin may be used with careful supervision in dogs but only under very special circumstances in cats.

SHOULD WE WORRY ABOUT OUR ELDERLY DOG'S SKIN LUMPS?

Q. Our 13-year-old cocker spaniel has several skin lumps – we assume that is not odd for a dog her age. What causes them and when should we worry about skin cancer?

A. Most dogs that reach the age of 13 have a lump or two. The most common are warts, sebaceous cysts and fatty tumors. These can usually be diagnosed by physical appearance alone and treatment is unnecessary unless the mass bothers the dog. In some cases, such as infection in a sebaceous cyst, the lumps should be removed surgically. Pigmented lumps, lumps that grow rapidly, or those that ulcerate or bleed (as in humans) are more likely to represent a skin cancer. These should be examined by your veterinarian, who can decide what treatment is need

KIMMEL'S STAR-S

JIMMY KIMMEL had to prove his fidelity to longtime love Molly McNearney before she finally agreed to walk down the aisle with him, The ENQUIRER has learned.

The happy-go-lucky host of "Jimmy Kimmel Live" reportedly began seeing Molly behind the back of his then-girlfriend, 42-year-old comedian Sarah Silverman. And it took more than a year for Kimmel to convince his new bride, who's the co-head writer for his show, that he would be faithful to her.

"BEFORE AGREEING TO TIE the knot, Molly made Jimmy read how-to books on topics like how to keep a marriage strong and maintain passion in the bedroom," a source revealed to The ENQUIRER.

"Molly also demanded that they both set aside at least 30 minutes each day to discuss their relationship."

Jimmy, 45, and Molly, 35, said "I do" on July 13 at the posh Ojai Valley Inn & Spa, about 90 minutes outside Los Angeles. The star-studded wedding sparkled with nearly 300 guests including Ben Affleck, Matt Damon, Kelly Ripa and hubby Mark Consuelos, Howard Stern and wife Beth, and Jennifer Aniston and her fiance Justin Theroux.

"There was buzz among the guests that Jen was pregnant," said the source. "She had a little 'bump,' and didn't have a sip of alcohol.

"Meanwhile, guests were smoking so much weed nearby that servers said they were getting a contact high."

The weekend-long affair included golf, spa treatments, a karaoke party, live music and plenty of great food. Molly was stunning in a strapless, white gown, and Jimmy looked dashing in a black tuxedo. It was Jimmy's second trip to the altar and Molly's first.

Kimmel's marriage to ex-wife Gina ended in 2003 after 14 years, and they have two children together.

"Now that he has Molly," said the source, "he's never going to let her go."

According to our sources, the reception will be catered by chefs from the bride's favorite Zurich restaurants, and guests have been asked to wear white.

It's the second marriage for eight-time Grammy winner Tina – whose previous union to abusive ex-hubby Ike Turner was chronicled in the biopic "What's Love Got to Do with It."

PREGNANT BRIDE HALLE BEEFS UP SECURITY

Beauty scared of bitter ex on big day

Halle and Olivier Martinez are expecting a baby later this year

HALLE BERRY wasn't about to let bitter baby daddy Gabriel Aubry ruin her dream wedding to Olivier Martinez, so she hired extra security to keep him away!

Ever since new hubby Olivier and ex-beau Gabriel got into a violent scuffle last Thanksgiving, Halle has been worried her ex-lover – and father to 5-year-old daughter, Nahla – would retaliate by disrupting her nuptials.

"Friends assured Halle she was just being paranoid and that Gabriel wouldn't risk doing anything drastic," said a source. "But she refused to take chances. She wanted to make sure nobody, especially Gabriel, could penetrate the confines of her wedding. So she hired extra security."

THE OSCAR-WINNING "MONSTER'S BALL" actress, 46, and her hunky French film star, Olivier, 47, wed on July 13 at the Chateau des Conde in Vallery, France. Nearly 60 close friends and family attended the event, which included a gourmet dinner and fireworks display.

Halle, who swore in 2007 she would "never, never marry" again after disastrous unions to baseball player David Justice and R&B singer Eric Benet, is expecting to give birth to Olivier's son later this year.

A Pill That Can Reshape Your Entire Body In 30 Days?

by Tiffany Strobel

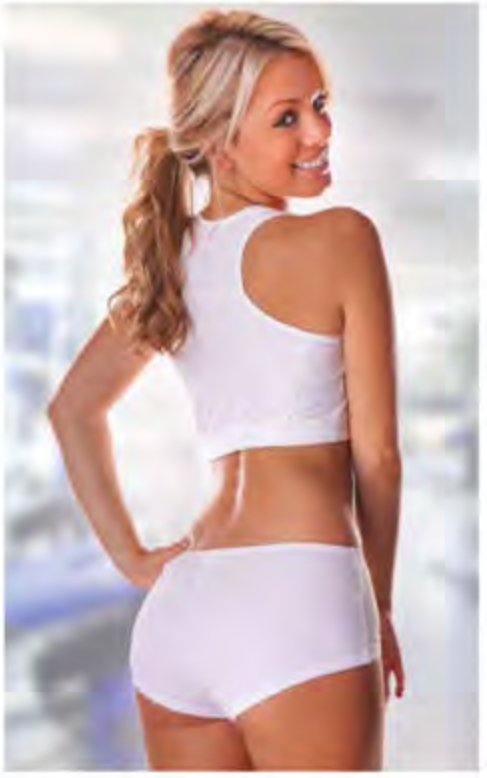
As incredible as it sounds, groundbreaking research has just identified a compound that can not only help you lose weight, but can actually reshape your entire body, reducing waist size, hip size, thigh and buttock circumference, belly bulge, and... last but not least... cause a significant loss of actual fat mass from all over your body. Has the "miracle pill" finally arrived?

These statements have not been evaluated by the Food and Drug Administration. This product is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any disease. Use in conjunction with any sensible diet and exercise program. Individual results will vary.

"It's sort of like eating a whole donut, but only absorbing a fraction of the calories..."

It doesn't happen very often, but every once in a great while a new weight-loss product comes along that really gets me excited. And, the fact that I get to tell you about it before Dr. Oz features it on his super-popular TV show is "icing on the cake!" The product is called Vysera™-CLS, and, unlike your run-of-the-mill "diet pill" that merely helps you lose weight (while following a strict low-calorie diet), Vysera can actually reshape your entire body... dropping inch upon inch of unsightly fat from your waist, hips, thighs and tummy… even if you're eating more than 2,000 calories a day! Some people are calling it a "miracle pill." However, this "miracle pill" is backed by serious clinical research published in the highly respected British Journal of Nutrition.

"The shape of my entire body actually changed. I had a tiny waist, my love handles were disappearing, and I had thinner thighs for the first time in years… everybody noticed."



The Power to Reshape Your Entire Body

While you and I only care about results (and the results are incredible), the scientists I've spoken to are even more excited about how this compound works.

So here we go. In a randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled clinical trial, study subjects took the compound along with their main meal of the day. Thirty minutes later, they had a significantly lower percentage of blood glucose increase compared to placebo. Additionally, at one hundred twenty minutes after they ate, subjects also experienced a smaller insulin increase compared to placebo. Additionally, with respect to time, researchers observed a significant effect on the hunger hormone ghrelin as well as on satiety and desire to eat. The end result was that the specialized compound was shown to cause a significant reduction in body weight, fat mass, BMI, adipose tissue thickness, and waist/hip/thigh circumference while maintaining lean body mass.

So Here It Is In Plain English: People who took this incredible compound not only lost weight, but lost a significant amount of squishy, flabby, unattractive body fat from those hard-to-target places we all hate: our hips, thighs and butt. It also caused a significant reduction in the amount of fat around the waist (yes, that means you can start saying goodbye to your love handles), helping study subjects achieve that tight, sexy, firm figure we all dream of. And the best part? The compound did all this on 2,000 to 2,200 calories a day! In other words, without requiring anybody to follow a low-calorie diet or work out for hours every day! Think of it this way... it's sort of like eating a whole donut, but only absorbing a fraction of the calories. How's that for amazing? (Of course, we don't advocate eating a donut as a meal, and this example is used for illustrative purposes only.)

Where Can You Get It?

A company here in the USA has acquired the patented compound and added a proprietary mood-elevating, feel-good energy component to help eliminate diet fatigue and get you through the day with a smile on your face (another added benefit). This unique formula has been exclusively licensed to Bremenn Clinical under the trade name Vysera-CLS. And trust me on this… once you start taking it and see how quickly it transforms your entire body, you'll be a believer, too.

So What's The Catch?

It seems there's always a catch with "diet" pills... so what's the catch with Vysera? The price. A full 30-day supply of Vysera will cost you about $100... in other words, don't go looking for it at your local Walmart. Until it becomes fully distributed in December of 2013, your best bet is to order Vysera-CLS directly from Bremenn Clinical at VyseraCLS.com or call 1-800-391-0615.Use promo code VYSERA4 at checkout and shipping is free![†]

ENQUIRER WORLD EXCLUSIVE

O.J. Simpson 3 MONTHS TO LIVE!

O.J. is a broken man, who is in his own little world and says he would rather die than be locked up like a wild animal for the rest of his life, says a friend

- Diabetes killing disgraced football star
- 300 lbs. & facing death behind bars
- His shocking murder confession

The former gridiron hero has become bloated and sickly, tipping the scales at 300 pounds – a far cry from the once-superfit athlete he was in his heyday

"Broken blood vessels in his eyes indicate he may already have blood clots forming"

O.J. SIMPSON has been slammed with a devastating diagnosis – his diabetes is a ticking time bomb that's likely to go off within the next three months!

Doctors have diagnosed his condition to be so serious he could collapse in a diabetic coma or have a fatal heart attack at any time, says a pal of the disgraced 66-year-old football great.

To make matters worse, O.J.'s blood pressure is "sky-high" and he's hastening his own death by refusing to take care of himself because he's convinced he's doomed to die behind bars.

a "despondent O.J. told a close pal. "My life is over. I'm done."

Saying he has nothing to lose, the former gridiron hero has finally confessed to a pal that he killed his ex-wife Nicole and her friend Ron Goldman during an uncontrollable fit of rage – and he plans to go out with a big bang by having his written murder confession released upon his death.

What's more, The ENQUIRER has learned that Simpson devised a secret plan to assure that the $2 million he's hidden away goes to his family and not to Ron Goldman's relatives, who won a wrongful death lawsuit against him.

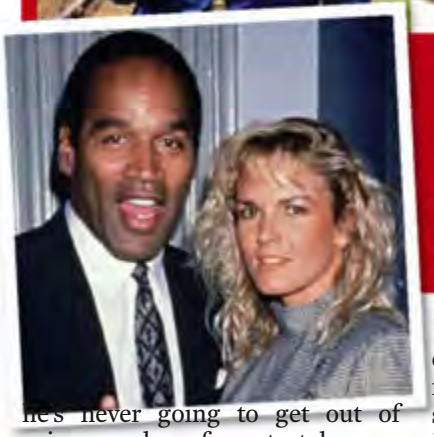
Meanwhile, O.J. has become bloated and sickly since being sentenced for up to 33 years in prison in 2008 after being convicted of kidnapping and armed robbery.

HE REPORTEDLY TIPS THE SCALES at a staggering 300 pounds and suffers from dangerously high blood pressure. And in recent days, his spirits plummeted as he became convinced the bid he's making for a new trial would fail and he'd never again enjoy free-dom.

Severely depressed, he spends much of his time sleeping in his prison cell bunk at Lovelock Correctional Center in Nevada.

"O.J.'s doctors have told him he could be dead in as little as three months because of his out-of-control blood sugar and blood pressure," revealed a friend.

"But O.J. doesn't care. He knows he's never going to get out of prison, so he refuses to take care of himself."



According to a prison pal, O.J. said he still loves Nicole and is having pals hide his money in offshore accounts with instructions to give it only to his family when he dies. Above, his daughter Sydney and son Justin

Dr. Daniel Bessesen, a Denver-based endocrinologist who has not treated Simpson, told The ENQUIRER: "Diabetes puts you at increased risk of cardiovascular disease and stroke. About 80 to 90 percent die from heart disease, not high blood sugar.

"I've noticed in taking care of diabetics in correctional facilities that they become severely depressed, which leads to little interest in self-care."

O.J. apparently doesn't care about what other people think of him either. Recently, while watching TV, he confided to a close prison pal: "You know, everybody believes I killed Nicole. Well, I did! I need to tell someone I did it!" O.J. then revealed what happened on the night of June 12, 1994, when he went to Nicole's town-house following their divorce.

He told his prison buddy he went there intending to get back with her. "By the time he confronted Nicole, he was in an out-of-control rage," said the insider. "She kept smarting off to him, which made it worse.

"He had a knife in his pocket, and although he said he never intended to use it, he was suddenly hacking away with it. Then he heard footsteps rushing at him, and a strong, young guy was on him.

"He stabbed and stabbed and finally the young man (Ron Goldman) was dead. He said he still loves Nicole and remains haunted by his moment of rage."

O.J. plans to stun the world once again when he dies, said a friend. "He's going to write a letter confessing that he killed Nicole and Ron, and he'll leave instructions that the letter be released to the public after he's gone.

"He's also making sure that none of his money or any other assets get to Ron's father (who won a 1997 civil lawsuit against him for $21 million).

"O.J. HAS ONLY A FEW PALS HE can trust, so he is having them quietly hide his money in various offshore accounts with instruc-tions to g when he dies."

Most days Simpson just lies around his cell, said the source. "When he does get up, it's to eat fatty and starchy junk food, especially his favorite, ice cream sandwiches.

"He's been told by a doctor he desperately needs to get his weight down and immediately improve his diet or else. He was also told he could have a stroke, and he's showing signs of it. Broken blood ve he may already have blood clots forming."

In May, O.J. appeared in court in his bid for a retrial. He was ridiculed in the media for being fat, and afterward he made some token efforts to exercise before giving up. Now, he keeps to himself and, for some strange reason, repeatedly sings the Scarecrow's song from "The Wizard of Oz" – "If I Only Had a Brain," say sources.

"O.J. is a broken man, who is in his own little world and says he'd rather be locked up now than to be locked up like a wild animal for the rest of his life," noted another one of O.J.'s friends.

"He ignores people when they talk to him and sits around in a glassy-eyed trance. Family is being supportive, but he's not paying attention to them either."

more than part of a carefully orchestrated aspect of the Episode. The entire saga culminating in the filing of the complaint in this action was orchestrated off screen by the Kardashians and then scripted for the Episode.

How reality TV family IS CONNING AMERICA

Court docs have been filed by Ellen Kardashian on the eve of Kris' talk-show debut

A NEW $20 million lawsuit blasts the Kardashians for fooling America with their "scripted" and "fake" reality TV show – and the shocking court papers also accuse family momager Kris Jenner of cheating, bullying and lying.

The sensational court papers, obtained by The ENQUIRER, blow the lid off the "shameful rewriting of history by the Kardashian siblings, at the direction and behest of Kris Jenner" – calling her an "atrocious" mom to daughters Kim, Kourtney and Khloe.

- CHEATING
- BULLYING
- EXPLOITATION

Filed on the eve of Kris' FOX network talk-show debut, the lawsuit claims to expose the real story behind "Keeping Up with the Kardashians." It could even put the future of the franchise in jeopardy, according to one TV industry expert.

In damning documents, the 57-year-old family matriarch is presented as a manipulative and devious mother and ex-wife who simply used and exploited her children and family."

The emotionally charged legal action – alleging defamation, harassment and conspiracy – was launched by Ellen Pearson-Kardashian. She's the widow of the late O.J. Simpson attorney Robert Kardashian, who fathered Kim, Kourtney, Khloe and Rob with first wife Kris. In the court papers, Ellen asks the court for permission to file a counterclaim against a lawsuit filed that Kris and the Kardashian siblings filed against her.

Ellen also unloads on her former stepchildren in the blockbuster filing, saying they do not have "meaningful careers or professions" and instead "subsist on exposing their perverse private affairs to the world," including "unorthodox sexual acts, extramarital [illegible] as the evil stepmom and sued by Kris and her daughters after she allowed diaries belonging to Robert – who died almost 10 years ago from throat cancer – to be published.

IN HER COUNTERCLAIM, ELLEN SAYS the Kardashians showed her in a bad light in a Season 8 episode of their reality show. Ellen claims that the episode was cooked up as "damage control" after Robert's journal "exposed" Kris. Robert portrayed her as a cold, uncaring mom who verbally and physically abused her daughters, was often absent and cheated on him.

"Ellen believes that the damage inflicted on her by Kris and the show is worth at least $20 million," said an insider.

"She wants to really make them pay for what they've done to her and her children when she was in final rehearsals for her talk show."

One expert says that the lawsuit is bad news for the famous clan.

"The truth is that reality shows aren't real," TV analyst Stuart Eller told The ENQUIRER. "Situations are manipulated for the sake of tweaking the audience interest, but too much phony dramatics could alienate viewers and put the entire Kardashian franchise at risk. This lawsuit could be another nail in the coffin for them."

The famous family has fired back by publicly slamming Ellen for her "lies."

And a rep for Kris Jenner previously said that she finds the accusations against her "ridiculous" and "untrue."

JAILHOUSE JUSTICE!

Elizabeth Smart kidnapper BEATEN BLOODY BEHIND BARS

THE fiend who abducted pretty teen Elizabeth Smart from her bedroom in the case that riveted America 11 years ago has been beaten to a bloody pulp by a fellow prison inmate and is now living in fear.

Brian David Mitchell, 59, was sentenced to life without parole for snatching a then-14-year-old Elizabeth from her Salt Lake City home in June 2002 and repeatedly raping her until she was rescued nine months later, say authorities. But now the cowardly monster is getting a taste of his own brutality.

Earlier this year, a prison source says that one of Mitchell's fellow inmates at the high security federal penitentiary in Tucson, Ariz., finally grew tired of his arrogance and fanatical religious ramblings and beat him into submission.

"MITCHELL WAS WELL-known among the other convicts even before he arrived," said the insider. "He thought he was a celebrity, and he acted cocky and arrogant.

"But he had a target on his back because the other inmates hate child molesters. It's part of the prison code. Even murderers look down on them as the lowest of the low."

Finally, one of the inmates lashed out in a violent rage.

"He pummeled the creep to the ground and punched and kicked him for several minutes," said the insider. "Mitchell didn't even fight back. He just curled up in a fetal position and cried for mercy. Meanwhile, several of the inmates were cheering the attacker on and yelling at Mitchell, 'This is for Elizabeth Smart!'"

Prison guards finally stopped the onslaught, and the source says: "Mitchell definitely had the crap beaten out of him. He had a swollen eye, bloody lip and several cuts and bruises."

The beating also brought a dose of reality to one of America's most hated felons.

"Mitchell suddenly seemed to realize that his infamy didn't impress anyone behind bars and that everyone considers him to be the scum of the earth," said the insider.

Mitchell – whose wife and accomplice Wanda Barzee was sentenced to 15 years – was later assigned to another section of the prison that houses mostly sexual offenders. And the beating seemed to scare some sense into him. He's since cut his hair and trimmed his beard, no longer resembling the wild-eyed fanatic at his trial.

IN THE MEANTIME, Elizabeth, who bravely faced the fiend down at his sentencing hearing in May 2011, is now 25 and thriving. In February 2012, the attractive blonde married sweetheart Matthew Gilmour in Hawaii. She's a contributor to ABC News and travels throughout the United States speaking to various groups about her time in captivity.

"I'm sure Elizabeth doesn't know that Mitchell got beaten up in prison and most likely doesn't care," said another source. "She name. In her world, he doesn't exist."

'HOUSEWIFE'S' EX-LOVER TELLS ALL

Boozy Brandi SPIRALING OUT OF CONTROL!

TV talk-show host John Kerwin

"REAL Housewives of Beverly Hills" beauty Brandi Glanville is so obsessed with ex-husband Eddie Cibrian and his new wife LeAnn Rimes that she could end up killing herself with booze, warns an ex-lover.

In a bombshell exclusive ENQUIRER interview, TV talk-show host John Kerwin spoke with amazing candor about the bizarre date he had with the troubled reality star last December. He also revealed that the 40-year-old mother of two is dangerously fixated on her longtime enemy LeAnn, who slept with Eddie while he was still married to Brandi.

"If LeAnn gets pregnant, I'm convinced Brandi will try to drink herself to death," Kerwin told The ENQUIRER. "She really needs help."

The TV personality made his shocking comments following Brandi's recent headline-making night of partying at a Hollywood hotel. After stumbling in front of photographers, the boozed-up former model suffered a major wardrobe malfunction – flashing her black thong and exposing a breast.

Eddie with new wife LeAnn Rimes and his sons Mason and Jake

SHE LATER TWEETED: "I GOT DRUNK with my (gay friends)...Everyone kept sending us drinks. I was being polite."

Shortly before last Christmas, Kerwin, 40, had an even wackier night out with the out-of-control beauty.

As the two dined at a restaurant, Brandi seemed "very upset," he recalled.

"Every time she talked about LeAnn she had more wine. She said LeAnn is like an angel fish because 'she sings like an angel and drinks like a fish.' It was so hypocritical.

"Later, we went to her home where she made drinks and turned on 'Housewives' so we could watch her on TV. She looked at herself with such love – she was just mesmerized by her image on the screen. When I told her she looked beautiful, she got really aggressive sexually. She performed oral sex – twice – which included her biting me 'down there.'"

Upset, Kerwin says he slept in the guest room after being "a breath away from having intercourse." Later, he was enraged to learn that she had a sexually transmitted disease she never told him about even though she'd previously admitted it in her book "Drinking and Tweeting."

Fumed Kerwin: "It made me furious. She's a trashy narcissist!"

TRAIN YOUR BRAIN to preserve memory

Reading books, writing and other brain-stimulating activities at any age may protect your memory as you grow older.

U.S. researchers tracked 294 elderly people, testing their memory and thinking skills for about six years. They found that those who participated in mentally stimulating activities throughout their lives had a slower rate of decline in memory than those who did not consistently engage in such activities.

"Our study suggests that exercising your brain…is important for brain health in old age," says researcher Robert S. Wilson of Chicago's Rush University Medical Center. "We shouldn't underestimate the effects of everyday activities, such as reading and writing, on our children, ourselves and our parents or grandparents."

Exercise alone HELPS TYPE 2 DIABETICS

Even without diet changes, exercise can reduce the amount of fat deposits in the bodies of those living with Type 2 diabetes.

Dutch researchers found that exercise reduces fat stored around the heart, in the liver and in the abdomen of people with Type 2 diabetes. The results concerning the liver are especially important, according to Dr. Hildo J. Lamb of Leiden University Medical Center in the Neth

"The liver plays a central role in regulating total body fat distribution," he explains, noting that reducing liver and visceral fat can help cut fat accumulation in other places, such as the heart and blood vessels.

FLU SHOT is effective

The flu shot works even if it doesn't match the seasonal strain that's going around.

Canadian researchers reviewed 40 years of data and found the vaccines offered up to 83 percent protection against the flu when they matched the strain and up to 54 percent protection when they didn't match. People shouldn't skip getting flu shots if it doesn't match the strain of flu going around because the vaccine will still protect them to some degree, notes scientist Dr. Andrea Tricco, at St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto.

SLEEP MORE, worry less

If you worry too much, lack of sleep could be the culprit, according to new research.

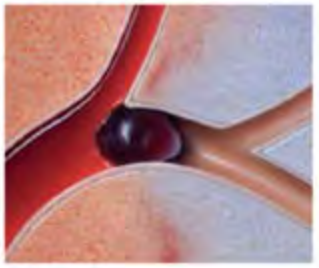
By showing young adults ordinary and disturbing images after both good and uneasy nights' rest, researchers found lack of sleep may play a key role in stimulating brain regions associated with excessive worrying.

"These findings help us realize that those people who are anxious by nature are the same people who will suffer the greatest harm from sleep deprivation," says University of California, Berkeley senior author Matthew Walker, adding that restoring good quality sleep may help anxiety-plagued people worry less.

DRUG COMBO cuts stroke risk

Combining two popular anti-clotting medications after suffering a stroke slashes the risk of a second stroke, suggests a new study done in China.

The trial involved 5,170 people hospitalized after suffering minor strokes or stroke-like events, known as transient ischemic attacks. All were treated for three months with either aspirin or aspirin and clopidogrel (Plavix).



Results found the drug combination lowered stroke risk by almost one-third compared to aspirin alone.

"The results were striking," says Dr. S. Claiborne Johnston, neurology professor at UC San Francisco. A similar trial is getting underway in the United States.

CRYPTOGRAM QUOTES

FAMOUS QUOTES FROM YOUR FAVORITE PEOPLE

Cryptograms are coded messages. To solve the Cryptogram, each coded letter must be replaced by the answer letter in the box overhead. When you solve the code for a letter, write the answer letter in the box everywhere the coded letter appears. Look for common words and letter patterns to break the code. Words like AND, I, THE and A are found frequently. Common word endings are ING, S and E.

What's hot this week

Mistresses

Monday, July 29, 10 p.m. ET, ABC

Did Elizabeth Grey (guest star Penelope Ann Miller) kill Tom? That's what Karen begins to wonder when she discovers that Elizabeth knew about Karen and Tom's affair all along. Meanwhile, April, who has still not told Richard (guest star Cameron Bender) about her supposedly dead husband's return, is now questioning whether she should tell her daughter that she's dating Richard. And Savi (Alyssa Milano) and Joss' (Jes Macallan) free-spirited and mostly absentee mother, Janet (guest star JoBeth Williams), unexpectedly drops in with big secrets while stirring up some fun summer's steamiest and most seductive prime-time soap.

Supermarket Superstar

Monday, July 29, 10 p.m. ET, Lifetime

Tonight, a Russian immigrant intent on bringing Piroshkis to America, a woman with her grandmother's sacred Portuguese soup recipe and a food vendor with a Chinese/Mexican tamale – the Chimale – get to work on their products and branding. Helping them are mentors Chef Michael Chiarello, cookie queen Debbi Fields and branding expert Chris Cornyn. During the season finale, three winners from the season will earn the chance to present their idea to A&P CEO Sam Martin. And only one will come away with $10,000 in prize money plus $100,000 for product development. If you have a recipe and a dream to be the next Mrs. Fields or Orville Redenbacher, this show is for you!

Pretty Little Liars

Tuesday, July 30, 8 p.m. ET, ABC Family

The deadly head games of the diabolical "A" have finally taken their toll on both Emily (Shay Mitchell), who is recovering from a shocking accident at her house, and her mom (Nia Peeples). In a desperate attempt to escape the madness, Emily reconnects with her old boss Zoe (guest star Rumer Willis). Meanwhile, Hanna turns to her nemesis Mona – the only person she thinks can help her – with a drastic plan to save her mother from jail. Caleb says Mona can't be trusted, but she proves her loyalty in a most surprising way in this deliciously deceitful episode.

Best Daym Takeout (New Show!)

Wednesday, July 31, 10 p.m. ET, Travel Channel

"Diners, Drive-ins and Dives" has some "Daym" serious competition as jovial 6-foot-5, 390-pound fast food reviewer Daymon "Daym" Patterson drives to different cities across the U.S. to find the best takeout. Tonight, Daym singles out the three most famous takeout joints in Chicago: Superdawg, Mr. Beef and Pequod's Pizza. Daym asks the customers' advice on what to order and visits the kitchens to see how the eateries prepare their famous dishes. Then he takes his order out to his car, where he most enjoys eating his takeout, and hilariously reviews it from his front seat in this refreshing and fun new food series.

NAOMI WON'T WORK WITH FIANCE LIEV

Liev in "Ray Donovan" with Jon Voight. The actor is upset Naomi won't appear on the show with him

LIEV SCHREIBER's new Showtime series, "Ray Donovan," has taken off like wildfire, but his fiancee Naomi Watts wants nothing to do with it!

Pressured by producers at the cable network, a source says the hunky 45-year-old actor has been trying to convince pretty Naomi to appear on the show, but she flat-out refused.

"Naomi's made a point of distancing herself from Liev's career, and this is no different," a friend told The ENQUIRER. "She doesn't like to mix business with pleasure. Besides that, she knows Liev's show doesn't need her help."

THE DRAMA'S JUNE 30 DEBUT drew a Showtime record for an original premiere of 1.35 million viewers – and the second episode fared even better.

In the series, Liev plays the title character, a "fixer" who handles crisis situations for L.A.'s rich and famous. Jon Voight co-star's as Ray Donovan's father.

Meanwhile, Liev and Naomi, who have two young sons together, agreed years ago

The couple has two young sons together that they would no longer get involved in one another's careers, according to the source.

But "Liev's producers love the idea of having Naomi on the show," said the friend. "Now he's upset that Naomi won't bend the rules."

Liev is asking a lot of Naomi, 44, because her schedule is tight. The beauty's biopic "Diana," about the late Princess of Wales, is due out later this year – and she has four other films in the works.

"Naomi's not going to budge," added the friend. "She believes working together on the show would kill their romance – and she thinks Liev will thank her one day for turning him down."

Who's the boss?

Alyssa Milano is neither an adulterer nor promiscuous. She's a talented actress, loving mom and devoted wife. In the TV show "Mistresses," she portrays an unscrupulous character. Someone should tell her meddling mother it's called "acting" (Alyssa's Family Drama, June 24).

– Elaine H., Hanson, Mass.

Regarding "Angelina Bans Brad's Buddies from Wedding" (June 24): Angie, stop being so bossy – the groom picks his best man! Brad, don't give in – your brother should be best man if you want. Angelina, make life easier for Brad. He has stood by you and loves you.

– Anna U., Pleasant Prairie, Wis.

$50 Letter of the Week

Get Paris out of limelight

I felt so bad reading "'Satanic' Voices Pushed Paris to Slash Wrists" (June 24). Paris Jackson is too young to have so many problems. There's a good life ahead for her if she can get the help she needs. Maybe it would be best to go live a quiet life with her mother. This kid deserves a break.

– Lori B., Philadelphia, Pa.

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

Parking madness

Spots sell for BIG buck$

NEED a place to park in one of America's most desirable cities? Then you'd better have a big fat wallet!

A single parking spot in an enclosed garage of a condominium building in San Francisco's trendy South Beach neighborhood recently sold for a staggering $82,000.

AND AS CRAZY AS IT SOUNDS, real estate agents say investing in premium parking makes good financial sense in some densely populated urban areas.

"We had a very good response right out of the gate," said Sean Sullivan, the realtor who sold the spot. "It was only on the market for two weeks."

But the San Fran spot has nothing on a tandem parking space that recently went up for auction in Boston's Back Bay area. The winning bidder dropped a mind-boggling $560,000 for what amounts to a small slab of asphalt and some painted white lines. The woman who bought the spot, Lisa Blumenthal, lives in an adjacent property and wanted more parking for guests and workers. "It's hard for most of us to get our brains around this," said real estate agent Steven Cohen. "But this is a portal into the world of people who are playing by different rules than most of us."

WINDOW WASHERS ARE SUPERHEROES!

Squeegee team THRILLS SICK KIDS at hospital

IT's a bird, it's a plane, it's a... window washer?!

Sick kids at the Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh were treated to a private screening of a one-of-a-kind movie blockbuster when four members of Allegheny Window Cleaning, Inc. – dressed as Batman, Spider-Man, Captain America and Superman – literally dropped in to entertain them.

Suspended from long ropes attached to the 12th floor roof and dressed in full superhero regalia, workers Rick Bollinger, 46, Mark Errico, 26, Ed Hetrick, 36, and Jim Zaremba, 45, washed, wiped and squeegeed their way around the building to squeals of delight from the pint-size patients.

Jim Zaremba as Batman delights a little girl

"I think my favorite was Spider-Man," said 10-year-old Naomi Kurzweg, who was in the hospital for blood work. Added Naomi's 42-year-old mom Anne: "If the windows have to be washed, it might as well be done by superheroes."

THE SPECIAL PROGRAM WAS THE brainchild of Michelle Matuizek, whose husband Edward is the president of the window cleaning company. Michelle had seen a similar stunt at a British children's hospital and convinced her husband to do something similar for the kids of Pittsburgh. Once the hospital was onboard with the plan, convincing the window washers to suit up for the cause was easy.

The men made their first appearance as their alter egos in the fall of 2012 and had planned to do it again in a year. But they were such a hit, they were asked to make an encore appearance in the spring. Now they plan to do it twice a year.

Company president Edward Matuizek has been overwhelmed by the reaction to his window washers' spectacular act of kindness for the kids.

"I duck the spotlight. I say as little as I can," said Edward. "But this has been overwhelming with what's happened on the Internet. It continues to fuel itself."

Indeed, thanks to social media and other publicity, the idea is spreading. Since the Allegheny window washing crew first donned their capes, more than a half-dozen other children's hospitals around the country have adopted a similar program.

Liz Munsch, facilities director for Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh, says it's all about keeping their little patients happy.

"It's about the kids and giving them an environment where their health and welfare is the focus, but not just from a medical perspective," she explained. "It gives them something else to enjoy and make it feel less like a hospital."

One patient who definitely enjoyed the spectacle was 9-year-old Katrina Koenig. She darted between the windows taking pictures of Batman with her iPod and exclaimed: "It's really fun!"

Her mom, 41-year-old Shawne, added: "Too bad we couldn't get his autograph on our doctor's excuse for school."
